Tracie Bresnahan

1st Place, Bedding & Pillows

This project was a collaboration between Bresnahan and designer Beverly Baribault of Beverly Baribault Design Group, who worked together on a designer showhouse to raise money for a local children's shelter. Bresnahan fabricated the bedding and pillows. Notable pieces include the front velvet accent pillow, which includes two rows of historical tassel trim, and the mohair euro shams, which complement the standout wallcovering behind the bed.

2nd Place, Bedding & Pillows

Hammann's teenage client had planned a dream bedroom filled with zebra-print fabric, crystal bling and loads of pom-poms. A custom-built and upholstered daybed is highlighted by a monogrammed cornice with crystal studs and a zebra canopy. The black velour banding along the top of the daybed and leading edge of the bed draperies complement the design. Drapery panels with pom-pom trim on the leading edge and black velour banding frame the window.

Sigita Nusbaum
Delaney Window Fashions, LLC
1st Place, Combination Treatments

Nusbaum's client came to her with two antique brass cornices, which he envisioned incorporating into window treatments for his office. An antique rug inspired the color scheme and design. Fabrication came with its own challenges, including matching the pattern on the pelmets and the roman shades and getting the right proportions on all three pieces of the treatment. But the client loved the final result, which reflects his personality and passion for antiques.

The goal for this beautiful dining room, designed by Beverly Baribault of Beverly Baribault Design Group, was to maintain the view while providing protection from the sun. The drapery panels are blackout-lined to protect them from sun damage and maximize the color and beauty of the fabric. The solar shade is motorized with a Somfy motor and has a 5 percent opacity. The nailhead-studded cornice provides a crowning accent to this simple yet appealing window fashion trio.
